

2015 1 oz Gold Maple Leaf

Since their release in 1979, Gold Maple Leafs have seen worldwide popularity. They were first introduced as direct competition to the Gold Krugerrand, and they immediately stormed the market. These coins saw such success that beginning in 1982, fractional Gold Maple Leafs were also minted.

This 2015 Gold Maple Leaf coin contains more security features than ever. The small maple leaf privy mark, which first appeared on the 2013 Gold Maple Leaf, shows a "15" when viewed under magnification. This number changes to correspond to the mint year. New to the Gold Maples for 2015 is also a radial line design background that creates a unique light diffracting pattern, providing another measure of security.
