

2016 5 oz Silver ATB Shawnee National Forest, IL

Shawnee National Forest consists of more than 265,000 acres in southern Illinois and features unique biodiversity. This area is also home to unique geological features, such as Little Grand Canyon, which is more than 200 feet deep, and Hicks Dome, believed to have been caused by a meteorite impact.

The U.S. Mint began its America the Beautiful series in 2010, releasing a unique design for a national park, forest or monument in each state and U.S. territory. The 5 oz Silver coins have gained popularity over the years for their designs and limited mintages. Their premiums have consistently increased year over year as well, adding further collectible appeal to these .999 fine Silver coins.
